ESTATE CHARDONNAY 2016

This newly bottled lemon-hued wine is youthfully restrained on the nose with a hint of peach skin and subtle malo / butter / caramel notes while the flavours offer up stonefruit with a zesty undercurrent and a nutty richness to the warm, long, expansive finish that hints it will unfold nicely in the months to come. Alastair says it has drinkability with natural acidity and elegance and finesse.

This is elegantly expressed on the nose showing white stone fruit, grapefruit and oatmeal characters with hints of vanilla and savoury notes. The palate is rounded and beautifully weighted, and offers creamy mouthfeel and delicate fruit intensity, finishing long and silky. Lovely poise and balance, and should evolve gracefully. At its best: now to 2020.
